GETS OPTION ON TOWN PROPERTY

See Prospect of Building for Prominent Corner on Chambersburg Street.

CHAIN OF RESTAURANTS

Ziegler Corner Desired by Pittsburgh Company Making Investigations here and in Other Towns.

The giving of an option on the northwest corner at the intersection of Chambersburg and Washington streets to a party of Pittsburgh capitalists has set afloat rumors of the erection of a new hotel here, or of a building to house a modern restaurant or lunch room. It is presumed that the people securing the option contemplate putting a chain of restaurants on the main roads east from Pittsburgh.

The property has a frontage on Chambersburg street of 60 feet and on North Washington street of 113 feet. It is owned by the William T. Ziegler Estate and it was through John D. Lippy, representing this estate, that the option was secured. It has a limit of four weeks but an earlier decision is expected on the part of the firm which is considering its purchase.

Four representatives of the company were in Gettysburg and made a thorough inspection of conditions here. Inquiry was made into the amount of business done at the various stores and garages, and a thorough test was made of the hotels and restaurants. At one of them a meal was ordered and left practically untouched. One of the men ordered meals at three separate places during the evening.

When the bargain for the Ziegler property option could not be finished immediately, three of the party went on, leaving one here to close the deal. It is known that the men were in both Chambersburg and Hagerstown and the supposition is that a chain of lunch rooms is to be established on the Lincoln Highway from Pittsburgh to Gettysburg, or on the old National Pike to Washington, or on both roads.

Asked for what purpose they would use the corner if bought, the representatives of the company refused to give any definite answer except to assure the present owners of the property that it would not be used for the opening or conduct of any sort of a souvenir establishment.

The careful manner in which the volume of tourist trade was investigated and the test they made of local accommodations for tourists would make the hotel or restaurant proposition seem to be the logical conclusion to be drawn as to their probable intentions. The lot is not regarded as sufficiently large for a hotel of any appreciable size unless it would be more than the ordinary number of stories in height.

BUILDING INN

New Mountain Hotel to be Completed by Early Spring.

Work on the new mountain hotel on the land of A. L. Solenberg, near the crest of the South mountains, along the Lincoln Highway is going forward rapidly. Several masons are at the stone work. It is hoped to have the building under roof before winter sets in.

Mr. Solenberg has been pushing the building since the beginning of actual construction several weeks ago. He contemplates having the building ready for occupancy in the early spring.

CERTIFY BALLOTS

Preparing Final Detail for the Coming Election.

The official ballot for the November elections was certified Monday to all of the counties in the State for printing. It contains electoral tickets for Democratic, Republican, Socialist, Prohibition and Industrialist parties and blocks for the non-partisan Supreme Court ticket and for United States Senator, Congressmen-at-large, State Treasurer and Auditor General, and Senatorial, Legislative and mine inspector candidates where such are to be elected.

TAKES PASTOR'S WIFE

Husband will Conduct Service at Wife's Funeral.

The death of Mrs. H. T. Searle, formerly of Idaville, aged 58 years, wife of Rev. H. T. Searle, pastor of the Lemoine United Evangelical church, occurred Monday afternoon from typhoid fever. She was ill for a week.

She is very well known through Eastern Pennsylvania, where Rev. Mr. Searle filled charges. She was born in Idaville.

She is survived by her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Roy Seiple; two sons, Clayton, of Lemoine; and Frank, of Cumberland, Md.; four sisters, Mrs. J. C. Oyler, of Harrisburg; Mrs. B. G. Brenner, of Boiling Springs; Mrs. P. F. Starner, of Gardners; Mrs. George Smeyers, of Idaville; one brother, Jacob Meals, of Idaville.

Funeral services will be held in the Lemoine United Evangelical church Thursday morning, Rev. H. T. Searle, her husband, will officiate. The body will be shipped to Wrightsville, where further services will be held and burial made.

DEER UNALARMED

Fawn and Mothers Peacefully Graze while Automobiles Pass.

Automobiles passing the slopes of "Little Graefenburg," the sweeping estate of the Misses Dock on South Mountain crest, Graefenburg Hills, Sunday afternoon were stopped by a striking sight. Two mother does, two fawn, and a handsome stag stood complacently grazing in full sight while the machines tooted below. In some instances travelers alighted to get a better view of the unalarmed wild animals.

CHESTNUT HIT BY LIGHTNING

Heavy Loss in State Forests is Reported According to Department.

Lightning shows a marked preference for chestnut trees, according to data based on reports submitted to the Department of Forestry by its foresters. Of a total of about 2,000 trees struck by lightning on the State Forests in the past four years, 655 were chestnut. Pitch pine comes next with 327 trees struck, and then follow in order rock oak, white pine, hemlock, red oak, white oak, black oak, locust, and sugar maple. Black birch is at the foot of the list with only one tree struck in four years. Poplar and walnut come next, only two of each being struck.

Because lightning is one of the very few causes of forest fires which cannot be removed, the Department of Forestry undertook to discover what trees are struck most frequently, and what proportion of the trees struck are ignited. The men of the State Forest Service have been keeping a close record of all trees struck since 1912. Of the 2,000 trees struck, sixty-five were ignited, and in many cases would have started forest fires had they been allowed to burn. White pine heads this list, with thirty-three trees ignited. Hemlock, chestnut, and pitch pine follow in order.

Several queer freaks of lightning are mentioned in the foresters' reports. In one case a bolt cut a groove in a fifty-foot red oak from tip to roots, and then dug a ditch, two feet wide and a foot deep, to the nearest road about fifty feet away. Another bolt struck a tree in Clearfield county to which a wire fence was attached. It ran along the wire for a distance of fully three hundred feet, and shattered a heavy post at the other end of the fence.

Fortunately for the forests, the majority of the trees are not struck during the months of greatest fire danger. Most of the thunderstorms come in the latter part of June, July, and August. During the four years covered, 695 trees were struck in July, 588 in August, and 412 in June. The extremes are March and November, one tree having been struck in each month.

SOON RECEIVE SCHOOL MONEY

Smaller Adams County Districts will Get their Checks in Short Time.

DELAYED FOR LONG TIME

Condition of State Treasury will Allow Payments Some Time this Week, it is Believed.

Adams County school districts which have been waiting more or less impatiently for some months for their State appropriations will be glad to learn that the first of this year's school payments will probably be made this week by the State Treasury. Usually these payments start in June or July, but the small working balance in the treasury during the summer prevented this.

State Treasurer Young has 500 warrants for the smaller districts ready to be cashed. These are all under $1000 each. It is probable that the larger payments will also start within the next few weeks, for the big corporation taxes are now coming in.

The treasury balance is $4,005,903.05, but nearly half of this is in special funds specifically appropriated. The general fund, or the working balance of the State, contains $2,749,834.66. This is a decided increase since the first of October when the treasury balance was $2,777,431.88 and the general balance $1,544,723.85. Before the capital scandal these balances were generally more than $10,000,000 to $12,000,000.

LIFT THE BAN ON ICE CREAM

Harrisburg will soon be Told that it Can Eat Frozen Delicacy again.

Only five new typhoid cases developed over Sunday and Monday in Harrisburg. City Health Officer Rannick announced Monday that recent tests made showed that ice cream manufactured at a number of plants fell but little short of the standard prescribed by city ordinance, and that the ban on the sale and distribution of the product would be lifted some time this week. Milk samples also show a decided improvement, only eight out of twenty seven samples tested falling below the standard.

In the ice cream report for the week ending October 14, released by the health authorities, much improvement over previous reports are shown. Only one specimen was condemned and confiscated. The cream report showed two samples condemned.

The specimen of ice cream that was condemned and confiscated showed 97,500 colon bacilli, while there were nine others that were entirely free of all dirt and filth. In the remaining ten samples the colon bacilli ranged from 400 to 45,000.

In the two samples of cream which were condemned and which were taken at the request of the dealer much colon bacilli was found, the one containing 37,500, while in the other it was too dense to count. The other three contained no bacilli.

The milk report for the week ending October 21 also showed a decided improvement over previous reports. There were fourteen samples shown in this report and only one of them was confiscated. This sample contained 70,000 bacilli, while there were nine that were free from germs. The remaining four samples showed colon ranging from 200 to 11,000.

There are at the present time eighty three typhoid fever patients at the Harrisburg Hospital. The total number of cases reported in that city during the present month, with the returns all in, is given at 200.

GET ANOTHER EXPRESS AGENT

Mr. Kissinger will Go to New Jersey Town. Regrets Much to Leave.

E. D. Kissinger, representative of the American Express Company at Gettysburg for the past several years, received notice on Monday that he had been transferred to Atlantic Heights, New Jersey, and that he should take up his duties there on next Monday.

From a financial viewpoint the change is a desirable one but Mr. Kissinger says that he regrets keenly leaving Gettysburg as do the members of his family, all of whom have become much attached to the town during their brief stay here.

Mr. Kissinger was assigned to Gettysburg from Waynesboro. He has been most satisfactory during his stay here and local patrons of the office will regret to learn of his transfer. The personal friends Mr. Kissinger and his family have made will also be sorry to hear of their contemplated departure.

It is not yet known locally who Mr. Kissinger's successor here will be. A member of the force of employees at the office may be put in charge or another agent from some station may be sent to take the place made vacant by the transfer.

NEW ORGANIZATION

Industrial Heads of this County Form an Association.

The Adams County Manufacturers Association was organized at the Eagle Hotel Monday evening with these temporary officers: president, S. G. Spangler, Gettysburg; vice-president, E. C. Livingston, New Oxford; secretary, R. W. Wentz, Gettysburg; and treasurer, D. C. Asper, Aspers; executive committee, C. H. Musselman, Biglerville; chairman, C. C. Trostle, Gettysburg; C. S. Speers, Gettysburg; and W. D. Himes New Oxford.

The purpose of the organization is to perpetuate the best interests of the county industries, to handle all labor troubles, to obtain any freight concessions should difficulties arise with railroads, and work to the advantage of its members in every way possible.

The meeting was attended by W. W. Fink, of a similar organization in Montgomery County, and R. E. Gephart, secretary of the York County Association.

LOCAL WOMAN PRESIDENT

Missionary Society to Meet in Carlisle Next Year.

The annual convention of the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of the Western Pennsylvania Synod of the Lutheran Church closed in Mechanicsburg on Monday. It was decided to hold the 1917 convention at Carlisle.

Officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows: president, Miss Carrie Musselman, of Gettysburg; vice presidents, Mrs. L. Frederick L. Gotwald, of York; Mrs. W. H. Snyder, of Shippensburg; and Mrs. C. W. Baker, of New Oxford; recording secretary, Mrs. C. S. Hesse, of Shrewsbury; corresponding secretary, Mrs. C. Gordon Snyder, of Chambersburg; treasurer, Mrs. G. C. Henry, of Shippensburg.

PARADE MONDAY NIGHT

Young Folk to Have their Usual Happy Time.

The Citizens Band, at a meeting Monday night, determined to stage the usual Halloween mummers' parade. That organization will have direction of the affair and the usual invitation is extended to all to take part, either as mummers or by entering floats. In past years this has been a highly enjoyable way of celebrating the evening and it will doubtless continue popular. No prizes have been announced.

SLASHER AND HIS VICTIM IN HEARSE

One Goes to Jail and the Other to Hospital in Burial Wagon.

HAVE FIGHT IN ORCHARD

Nine Inch Cut Inflicted by Workman Following Wordy Quarrel in Apple Orchard Nearby.

Pat Shenan, one of the army of transient, seasonal workers, lies in the Chambersburg Hospital, suffering from a nine inch knife wound in the abdomen and another slash six inches long over his temple and head, the result of getting into an argument with a fellow-workman in the D. M. Wertz apple orchards near Mont Alto.

The slasher, Wilson Allen, who says his home is in Richmond, Va., and who is also a transient worker, is in jail, charged with aggravated assault and battery. For a time the officers feared that Shenan's wounds would prove fatal, but word from the hospital is that he is resting nicely and will recover, unless there has been infection.

Both men were employed as apple pickers in D. M. Wertz's orchards near Mont Alto. They lived in a house in the orchard and during the morning a several days' wordy quarrel culminated in a physical encounter. Allen gave his opponent two bad slashes with his knife, and he himself was somewhat marked up by the blows he received.

Constable R. J. Small arrested Allen, on a warrant issued by Magistrate H. M. Small. Both the defendant and the wounded man were placed in the motor hearse of Undertaker M. D. Jacobs, of Mont Alto, and were taken to Chambersburg, Allen to jail and Shenan to the hospital.

Sheriff Horst, fearing that some of Allen's wounds might be dangerous, called the jail physician, who found nothing serious. They remarked to Allen that he was somewhat scared. He is an Irishman and replied: "Shure and ye ought to see the other fella."

Allen, it is said, is a cousin of the Allen brothers who shot up the Hillsboro Courthouse in Virginia, a few years ago, and Shenan is said to be a relative of the Democratic leader in Brooklyn.

FARMERS AGAIN BAR THE HUNTER

Too Much Damage in Former Years to Allow Promiscuous Visits, they Say.

Renewed protests are being made by county farmers over the use of their land by hunters who disregard trespass notices and every other method they employ to protect their property from damage by careless citizens out for game.

Trespass signs appear in profusion all over the wooded sections of the county and in places where rabbits are known to exist. The newspaper list advising hunters of several scores of farms that are barred against hunters serves to tell them before they start out that they are not desired. Damage to fences, to grain fields, and even to stock has been so marked in former years that many land owners and tenants have simply decided to keep every person off their territory.

Coupled with this is the feeling that the farmer is entitled to the game on his own ground and that the person who hunts there without permission is a rank intruder without justification. Many, however, are willing to give this permission if it is merely requested.

Hunters out for the game now in season report squirrels rather plentiful but wild game birds may be found at a number of places, and it is stated by every one that the coming rabbit season will be one of the best in the county's history. The lively cotton-tails may be seen everywhere.

BIG SHIPMENTS

$60,000 Worth of Apples Shipped on One Day.

The anticipated rise in the price of York Imperials in West Virginia came Saturday, when the Martinsburg Fruit Exchange announced that it had sold several carloads of these apples at $2.60 per barrel, says a dispatch from that town which continues:

Manager House also stated that he has orders for strictly fancy No. 1 Yorks at $2.75 per barrel, and can place a quantity at this price, which is the highest figure the exchange has sold Yorks for this season.

The shipments Wednesday night were somewhat heavier than on Tuesday night. Wednesday night the Cumberland Valley handled two trains of 80 carloads—55 cars from Berkeley county and 25 cars from Frederick county—a total of approximately 13,000 barrels. The shipments over the Baltimore & Ohio branch about equalled those over the Cumberland Valley, making a total shipment for Wednesday night of about 26,000 barrels, worth probably $60,000. This fruit went to all sections of the country east of the Mississippi river.

General George G. Meade Local Union Number One, Gettysburg Battlefield Guides Association is the imposing title of the town's newest organization. It was permanently organized Monday evening in the Court House under the direction of Philip Wagaman, seventh vice president of the American Federation of Labor with which it will be affiliated. Harry W. Long was made president and James McDonnell secretary. Meetings will be held the last Wednesday evening of each month in the court house.

AGAINST POLES

Want no Shifting about on the Oxford Streets.

The borough council of New Oxford secured a temporary injunction Monday to prevent the Bell Telephone Company from changing their poles from one side of the street to the other in that town. The work of taking out the poles had been started when action was taken.

ANOTHER MOVE TO HELP POOR

Nursing Association Added to List of Local Charities. The Plans.

At the meeting of the directors of the District Nursing Association on Monday evening mention was made of the dire need of the very poor in Gettysburg, of women with little children who have been abandoned by worthless husbands, of families who have insufficient bedding, of the sick, and of the unfortunate in general.

The following minute was adopted: "In view of existing destitution in the community, the Nursing Association resolved to create a committee to distribute charity to worthy cases and to make a general appeal to the citizens of Gettysburg for funds. All and charitably disposed persons will find the Nursing Association a convenient and reliable agency for the administration of their gifts. Contributions should be sent to the treasurer, I. L. Taylor, at the Gettysburg Bank, or to Mrs. J. L. Butt, chairman of the committee, 127 Carlisle street."

We trust that many will avail themselves of this opportunity to do good in a quiet way. The winter is at hand, and no one in our prosperous community should be permitted to go cold or hungry. There will be no personal solicitation of funds. The Association offers simply to act as agent for those who have kind hearts and ready hands, and who may not be in a position to protect themselves against imposture. This relief work will be done by our noble women without any expense and with proper discrimination. This work is not to interfere with that of the specific purpose of the Nursing Association, which will be carried on in the usual way.

ASKS FOR MORE PERSONAL WORK

Evangelist would Have Renewed Efforts to Increase Number of Converts.

CAMPAIGN NEWS TO DATE

General Attitude toward Attendance. Mr. Nicholson's Return to Early Methods Commented upon.

A review of the first three weeks of the revival and a forecast for the final period of the campaign, which closes one week from next Sunday, discloses a marked diversity of opinion among those who have been following the present series of evangelistic services.

Mr. Nicholson, who heads the visiting party, in no uncertain terms recently denounced the lack of interest manifested in the actual work of soul winning. His preaching from the platform will be almost useless, he claims, unless Gettysburg people and those from the county turn in and help to get converts to come out openly and announce their decisions. Mere attendance at the meetings, he believes, will do but little to get friends to hit the trail.

The band of personal workers has not been a large one, it is true, but those who pledged themselves early in the campaign to help in this feature have been very active and many have gone down the sawdust path as a result. Mr. Nicholson's admonition to more earnest endeavor will be followed by added workers, it is thought.

Early in the campaign there was much criticism heard in town over the somewhat undignified expressions of the evangelist. Persons from the outside heard of these and severe censure was given upon the part of those who had not been inside the building. Mr. Nicholson has been much misquoted, but even some of the campaign's most earnest adherents were not in favor of some of his platform eloquence.

During last week this almost vanished entirely and on Friday evening the entire service from start to finish was absolutely free from anything that could possibly have offended the most sensitive person. There was a feeling of general satisfaction that Mr. Nicholson had abandoned any trace of the dramatic and his Friday evening sermon made a profound impression upon his audience.

Sunday evening Mr. Nicholson returned to his former type of platform delivery with an attempt at impersonation that offended the sensitive ones. He had a great audience and the results of the evening, when thirty eight hit the trail, would seem to justify the methods adopted, but many devout persons believe as much if not more good would have been accomplished had the evangelist clung to his Friday evening manner of preaching.

As to the attendance at the meetings, there is also a diversity of opinion. Mr. Kellerman stated late last week that the evening audiences were not what they should be but that a slump usually occurred in the middle of the campaign. It was also pointed out that rain had interfered several nights and that the audiences in reality averaged more than in the earlier services but that they were lost in the big building.

The record breaking attendance Saturday evening and Sunday night apparently indicated a revival of interest, if there had been any falling off, and would be taken as a reason for prophesying large attendance all this week.

GERMANS TAKE CONSTANZA

Cut Rumanian Communications to the Sea.

BUCHAREST NOW MENACED

Serbian Repel Bulgarian Attacks in Cerna Bend—Quiet on Sturma Front.

Berlin, Oct. 24.—The Rumanian port of Constanza has been captured by the Germans, the war office announced.

The troops of the central powers crossed the railway line running between Constanza and the river Danube at a point to the east of Murfatlar.

On the left wing of Field Marshal von Mackensen's army the Germans and their allies are approaching the Danube town of Cernavoda.

Constanza (Kustendji), on the Black sea, was the principal immediate objective of Field Marshal von Mackensen in his campaign in Dobruja. It is of particular importance by reason of the fact that it is the eastern terminus of the only railroad between the Black sea and the Danube, which it crosses at Cernavoda. Thence, the railroad runs westward into Old Rumania. Possession of the Danube river at Cernavoda would open the way through to Bucharest for von Mackensen. The Dobruja, in which he is now operating, is a peninsula, bounded on the north and west by the Danube. Possession of Constanza, which is Rumania's only real port, also deprives her of sea communication with Russia.)

Offering Stubborn Resistance.

London, Oct. 23.—The Russian and Rumanian troops in Dobruja are continuing to retreat, the Russian war office announced but are offering stubborn resistance to von Mackensen's army.

On the Transylvania front the Rumanians made attacks, compelling the Austro-German forces to retire slightly in the Trosus, Oltuz and Slank Valley. On the western frontier of Moldavia the Rumanians are fighting stubbornly and with success.

Desperate fighting in the bend of the Cerna on the Macedonian front has resulted favorably to the entente forces, according to the Paris war office. The Bulgarians counter attacked in strong force, but were defeated by the Serbians, who inflicted heavy losses on them. New German units on the Cerna are reported by Serbia.

The Bulgarian war office asserts that the Serbian advance in the Cerna sector has been halted as a result of an attack by German and Bulgarian troops, and that east of Vadar a night attack against German positions failed.

A British report says: "On the Sturma front rain is still impeding operations. A French patrol, acting in conjunction with our forces, raided Bulgarian trenches near Bejizmah, returning with several prisoners."

Germans Win on Narayuvka.

Berlin, Oct. 24.—The repulse of the Russian forces from the western bank of the river Narayuvka, in Galicia, has been completed, says the official statement issued at German army headquarters.

At Predeal pass, on the Transylvanian front, 560 Rumanians have been captured.

BALLPLAYER TO GET MEDAL

Former International Wines Recognition as Bomb Tossing in War.

Boston, Oct. 24.—Bill O'Hara, once a star left fielder of the Toronto International League team, and a former scout for the New York National League club, has been recommended to the military cross in recognition of his bravery and skill in hurling bombs for the British army on the Somme battle front, according to advices received from his home in Toronto.

When O'Hara played in the International League he was noted for his strong and accurate throwing. Baseball men here say it was a common occurrence for him to head off a too daring base runner at the plate by a long, quick throw from the outfield. O'Hara, a lieutenant in a Canadian regiment, now is hurling deadly bombs instead of base balls.

Two Workmen Killed.

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 24.—Frank Wonderly, thirty-six years old, of Highspire, and Ross Smeltzer, fifty-two, of Bressler, were instantly killed, and William Martz, of Bressler, was injured as the result of an explosion of dynamite in a quarry near here. It is believed the drill which the men were using struck a charge of explosive which had failed to go off at a previous firing.

Conn Husked by Wind.

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 24.—Autoists returning from the upper end of Dauphin county brought details of the big storm which swept over that district. Near Fishersville, the wind, which blew seventy miles an hour, husked the corn in more than a dozen fields and all the farmers had to do was go around picking it up and throw it in the cribs.

GREY FAVORS PEACE LEAGUE

But Says Nations Must Back
It Up With Force.

London, Oct. 24.—At a luncheon given by the Foreign Press Association, Viscount Grey, British foreign secretary, expressed approval of American movements for a league after the war to maintain peace.

He declared, however, that the nations which went into such a league must have a public sentiment prepared, if necessary, when a critical time came to uphold their decision by force.

The foreign secretary referred to German intemperances regarding peace and the claim that Germany must have guarantees for her future protection, and added:

"Precisely because this war was forced by Germany upon the world, it is the allies who must have guarantees."

Viscount Grey was asked what a neutral should do for civilization at the present time. He replied: "The best thing neutrals can do will be to work up sentiment for a mutual agreement to prevent such wars for the future. Had there been an international conference of all nations in 1914 it would have prevented this war, as they would have demanded that Belgium neutrality be respected. This work for neutral countries upon which we would look with favor and approval."

Viscount Grey said neutrals should have something to say after the war regarding the methods by which the war had been conducted and whether all developments of science were to be utilized for destruction of the human race. He observed he would like to see the German charge that any other nations planned aggression against Belgium investigated by any independent tribunal.

POPE FELICITATES PRESIDENT

Congratulates the President on His Escape From Attack.

Rome, Oct. 24.—Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state, instructed Monsignor Banzano, apostolic delegate at Washington, to present to President Wilson the congratulations of Pope Benedict upon the president's escape from the attempt made upon him at Pittsburgh.

The foregoing indicates that exaggerated reports of the Pittsburgh incident of last Friday, when a man who attempted to board the president's motor car was arrested, apparently have reached Rome.

MUST RETURN $340,000

Supreme Court Rules Against Possessor of Aged Woman's Wealth.

Washington, Oct. 24.—A decree of the federal court in Illinois requiring Charles W. Parker, of Chicago, to return securities worth about $340,000 given him by Mary M. Gray, an octogenarian of Wayne county, Pa., under a contract by which Parker agreed to pay her $150 a month during her lifetime, was approved by the supreme court which refused to review the lower court's findings that the contract was void because of undue influence.

Curfew at Harrisburg.

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 24.—Children under sixteen were barred from the streets when the city's curfew ordinance was ordered enforced by Police Chief Wetzel, at the request of the Civic club. Warning whistles were blown at various industrial plants at 8:15, and at nine the final siren was blown to lure youngsters to their beds.

WITHDRAW LINE NEAR CHAULNES

Germans Admit Retreat at One Point on the Somme.

AVIATORS MAKE BIG RAIDS

Four Tons of Projectiles Dropped on Furnaces and Railway Stations Near Metz, Says Paris.

Berlin, Oct. 24.—Attacks launched by British and French forces against the German positions between Le Sars and Rancourt, in the Somme region, were repulsed with sanguinary losses, says the German war office.

On the north bank of the Somme the tremendous artillery battle was continued.

The statement says:

"To the south of the Somme we succeeded in advancing into the northern part of Ambrol wood north of Chaulnes. During the night our line of defence at this place was withdrawn, in accordance with instructions, to a prepared position east of the northern portion of the wood, without any action on the part of the enemy."

Captain Boelke, the noted German aviator, shot down two more aeroplanes, bringing up the total to thirty-eight, the war office announced. Twenty-two allied aeroplanes were destroyed during the day. The announcement added:

"Enemy aviators dropped bombs on Metz and on villages in Lorraine. No military damage was caused. Five civilians died and seven were made ill through inhaling poisonous gases emitted from bombs."

French Make Important Gain.

London, Oct. 24.—Another important gain has been scored by the French in their drive toward Marnage on the Somme front, from the south.

The report issued by the Paris war office stated that the French have captured Hill No. 128 from the Germans. This hill is north of the river and between the powerful German positions at Transloy and Sully-Salisse.

South of the Somme the Germans made a counter attack in an effort to hold up the French, who are pressing upon Peronne. The assault was repulsed.

The number of German prisoners taken by the French between October 16 and 22 is 1000 men and twenty officers, it was announced.

Four tons of projectiles were dropped by a French air squadron of twenty-four machines on blast furnaces north of Metz and on the Metz and Thionville stations, the war office announced in its report of aviation activities. Hits were made on all the objectives, it is declared. Another French flotilla bombarded factories at Rembach.

"German aeroplanes," says the statement, "dropped several bombs on Luneville. There were no victims and the material damage was insignificant."

"During the night there was considerable enemy shelling against our front between Le Sars and Gueudecourt," says the British official announcement. "Our troops now occupy the near lip of the two mine craters formed by the enemy at the bluff (south of Ypres) and are satisfactorily establishing their positions."

18 MINERS KILLED

Lost Lives in Gas Explosion in Alabama Colliery.

Marvel, Ala., Oct. 24.—Eighteen men lost their lives as the result of the explosion in the Roden coal mine here, and rescuers brought sixteen bodies to the surface.

Six were colored. W. F. Lowrey and a miner named Pervis are still in the mine, and all hope for them has been abandoned. George Holloway, a white miner, reached safety through a pump house. He was badly burned.

The cause of the explosion is believed to have been accumulated gas. Although the mine was reported free from gas, mine officials say the appearance of the bodies indicated the men were hurled many feet against the sides of the walls and timbers. They were badly burned and mangled.

Find Body in Sand.

Bloomington, Pa., Oct. 24.—Attracted by the whining of a dog, George Hendrie, of Millville, discovered a hand protruding from a pile of sand in Mt. Pleasant township, Columbia county. Summoning aid, the body of John McCaslin, forty-five years old, of Morristown, was removed. He had started to lead sand when caught by a cave-in.

Orders Duches to Leave Hot Springs.

Richmond, Oct. 24.—The state department of health approved the action of its agent, who recently ordered the departure from Hot Springs of the Duchess of Chaulnes and her eight-year-old son, who came from New York in violation of the Virginia quarantine regulations against infantile paralysis. The Duchess was Miss Theodora Shonts, of New York.

German Cruiser Torpedoed.

Berlin, Oct. 24.—It is semi-officially announced that the vessel torpedoed Thursday, was the small cruiser Muenchen, which was slightly damaged and returned to the harbor.

KNIFE ONLY CAN CURE, CURE, SAY SURGEONS

Malady Easily Controllable in Early Stages, Hopeless Later.

Philadelphia, Oct. 24.—Cancer is curable. Those who die of it are victims of their own negligence and not of the disease.

This is the collective up-to-the-minute opinion of the most distinguished Philadelphia surgeons as expressed at the various special hospital clinics arranged for the 1800 visiting specialists who are in Philadelphia for the seventh annual Clinical Congress of Surgery.

Cancer was the foremost subject at the demonstrative clinics in twenty-three local hospitals, where noted Philadelphia specialists illustrated the most modern operative methods in almost every branch of surgery. Cancer, they said in effect, is like a fire—easy to stop at the beginning, hopeless when it gets beyond control.

It can be swiftly and surely diagnosed and eliminated instantaneously by the knife and not by radium. It is not a blood disease, but a malignant condition in isolated groups of cells. The certain remedy is early diagnosis and an early operation. Those who have died of cancer after undergoing one operation are invariably those who have applied too late to the surgeon.

The specialists at the clinics suggested that those who have the slightest fear of cancer or the most remote symptoms of its beginning should not put their hopes in radium or the X-rays or any other unproved cure, but should submit themselves to examination in order that the growth may be cut out and all possibility of its spread eliminated. Otherwise, like a flame, the growth will spread to regions where the original simple operation is not possible.

TIPPLE AND 5 BARGES BURN

35 Miners' Houses Saved by Destroying Building in Path of Flames.

Brownsville, Pa., Oct. 24.—The tipple, electric plant, and five barges loaded with coal, the property of the Diamond Coal & Coke company, at West Brownsville, were destroyed by fire with a loss of $125,000.

Thirty-five miners' houses nearby were saved when firemen from neighboring villages chopped to pieces several buildings in the path of the flames.

The company suffered a severe loss five weeks ago, when its tipple at the Husted mine was burned.

$25,000 Value of Baby's Eyes.

San Francisco, Oct. 24.—The value of a baby's eyes was fixed at $25,000 here by Judge Frank J. Murphy in the superior court, who gave judgment for that amount to the parents of Mary Rubio, one year old, against Mrs. Amalia Razuoli, a graduate midwife. It was alleged that the midwife failed to care for the baby's eyes properly at birth and now the eyes are sightless.

Eleven Neutral Ships Sunk.

London, Oct. 24.—The sinking of eleven neutral vessels was announced. The Norwegians lost four, the Danes three, Greeks two, and Dutch and Swedish one each. Twenty-eight men are believed lost. The total tonnage lost exceeds 12,000.

ANTS ANNIHILATE BEES.

Verdun of the Beehive Enacted in Oakland, Cal.

Dr. J. H. Callon, who had two hives of bees, much alive, on his property, in Oakland, Cal., is now occupied in cleaning out two hives of dead bees, victims of an unsuccessful Verdun defense against a horde of marauding ants.

The evidence shows that the ants attacked in solid mass formation, carrying the bees' first, second and third line of trenches and then attacking the entrances to the hives.

The little Thermopylae was defended by a few valiant bees, but they never had a chance. When the entrances were choked the ants sat down and let the rest of the garrison starve.

The object of the battle is still unknown. The victorious ants just went home after it was over.

FRANKLIN COUNTY CROSSING INSPECTED

Representatives of the Public Service Commission inspected the dangerous crossing of the Western Maryland railway at the Wolf shops in Chambersburg. A number of railroad officials were also present. No definite action was taken by the commission.

About forty citizens of the neighborhood appeared before the commission and gave details as to the dangerous crossing. The railroad company promised to submit a proposition to the commission for action. What the railroad proposes to do to relieve the existing conditions has not been made public nor did any members of the commission express any manner in which the crossing should be safeguarded. It is not, however, believed that the proposals of the company will be acceptable to the commission.

Final announcement of the commission's action is expected at an early date.

VICTIM OF DIPHTHERIA

Lillian Ruth, daughter of James Helfrick, died at her home in Waynesboro Sunday morning from diphtheria. She was four years old. This is the first Waynesboro death from diphtheria in quite a while.

BOGUS COINS DETECTED

A couple of counterfeit quarters appeared at the teller's window of the Peoples National bank, Waynesboro, and were quickly detected by William B. Hunter, the bookkeeper, who happened to be at the window at the time. It is said that more of the spurious coin has been seen around there lately. It is supposed that it floated over from the Hagerstown Fair, where there was a big gorge of it thrown into circulation.

WALKED CARPET TRAIL

Evangelist Krenz held three services in the Quincy U. B. church, Sunday, which resulted in about fifty persons striking the carpet trail. A delegation accompanied by a quartet and Prof. King as organist from Chambersburg attended the afternoon services and rendered several selections. The evening services were attended by a large delegation from Mont Alto.

Evangelist Krenz held a series of meetings early in the year at Mont Alto, consequently he has a host of admirers up there and on Sunday they turned out in full force to show their appreciation.

MAIL BOX SMASHED

The mail box hanging on a post in front of the Frick building, Waynesboro, was knocked down from its hangings and badly broken by the falling of a limb from the tree which is being taken out in order to put down a cement pavement at that corner. The mail was spilled over the ground but was gathered up and given to a postman.

Stroh, F. I. Shetrow, A. D. Kutz, William Shumpp, Joseph E. Einstein, Martin Hays, Charles Deitch, Park Steele, E. L. Minick, Willis Lindsey and H. R. Einstein.

BREAK INTO SCHOOL HOUSE

Carlisle officers are investigating to learn the identity of the parties who on Friday night entered the Independent school house by breaking in the front door and stole and destroyed school district supplies. A quantity of paper, tablets and other articles was taken, articles thrown about the room while ink was splashed on the walls and floors.

CHILDREN'S PAGEANT

The event of the week at Carlisle will be the Children's Pageant to be given Thursday and Friday evenings, in Mentzer Hall. Two hundred children from the various Sunday Schools of Carlisle will give one of the most pleasant hours ever experienced. Cradle songs of the nation and folk games by the children combined will prove both entertaining and instructive. The entertainment is being given for the benefit of the St. Paul's Lutheran Sunday School and the Louisville Orphans' Home.

YORK COUNTY

HAS BROKEN NECK

Falling through a skylight at the plant of the Eyster-Weiser company in York, Walter Berkheimer, 35 years old, suffered a fractured neck and an ugly scalp wound when he landed on a flask in the foundry.

When picked up he was in a helpless condition, but after being admitted to the York hospital where he was taken he was able to talk. Later, however, he lapsed into unconsciousness and remained in that state throughout the night. His condition is considered critical.

Berkheimer was engaged in making some repairs to the skylight when the accident occurred. He fell a distance of about twenty feet. An X-ray photograph was taken of the injured neck with a view of ascertaining the exact extent of the injury.

When first admitted to the institution the injured man was able to use his right hand, but later that, too, became paralyzed and was rendered absolutely useless. When his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Berkheimer, arrived at the hospital the injured man showed no signs of recognizing them.

FREE YOUNG BOY

John Sutcliffe, a 19-year-old boy whom the York police suspected in connection with the robbery at the home of Otto Weaver, Saturday night, when $250 worth of silverware and jewelry was stolen, was in police custody for a few hours, arrested by Patrolman C. C. Brown, but was given his freedom, for nothing could be disclosed to warrant his being held. Sergeant H. C. Myers early in the day had made an investigation and suspicion was directed toward Sutcliffe, especially in view of the fact that he once resided in the house and that he had painted the roof last July.

Detective A. D. Mittel had a warrant from Alderman M. W. Elssesser, but although he made an exhaustive investigation he could find nothing upon which to hold Sutcliffe and the young man was discharged.

FALSE ALARM OF FIRE

A false alarm of fire was turned in at 2:06 this morning in York by somebody unknown to the authorities. The box is at a favorite place for those who delight in running out the firemen on a wild goose chase in the wee hours of the morning. The Union Fire company, which is located just one block east of where the alarm was turned in did not run out its apparatus to respond to the alarm. The alarm no doubt was turned in for the benefit of the visiting firemen who were in that city. The companies responding were the Vigilant, Laurel and Rex Hook and Ladder companies.

PROPERTY BROUGHT $21,250

The Jacob H. Schriver property in Hanover, a half block from Centre Square, was sold at public sale on Saturday afternoon to George N. Gitt. It has been stated that Mr. Gitt intends to remodel the present property to provide store rooms on the first floor and apartments on the second floor. He secures possession of the property April 1st, 1917.

HUSKED 100 BUSHELS

Mr. Cassatt, of Hanover, who has been husking corn for Benjamin Forry, of Broadway, in a period of ten days husked 1000 bushels, for which he received $35 in wages. FORCED TO SLAY FOE OF ANOTHER

Methods of Italian Gangs in New York Revealed.

COACHED BEFORE CRIME

Montimagno, Self Confessed Murderer, Testifies He Rehearsed Slaying of Italian "Boss" With Instigator Before Committing Deed—Threatened When He Hesitated, He Says.

In one of the most sensational murder trials ever held in New York city Gaetano Montimagno, slayer of Michael Gaimari and chief accuser of Michael A. Rofrano, ex-deputy street cleaning commissioner of New York, in Rofrano's trial as the instigator of the crime, has just testified in the criminal branch of the supreme court of New York that he had been warned by Rofrano that he would be killed if he did not keep his promise to murder Gaimari.

Montimagno prefaced this statement by testifying that he had been led to believe that Rofrano was a king in New York city and that, having elected Mayor Mitchell by controlling the Italian vote, he would protect the witness after he had killed Gaimari.

Montimagno went into great detail in describing how he, a recent arrival from Sicily, had been led to believe that Rofrano was mightier than all of the laws of the city and the state and how, "if the governor, the mayor, the police commissioner, the judges and the district attorney" failed to do his bidding, he would, after election, turn them all out of office and set them "all to shuffling shoes."

Tells of Death Threat.

Although impressed by all these assurances of the greatness of Rofrano, the witness asserted that he had decided not to kill Gaimari and would have persisted in his refusal but for the fact that a few moments before the murder was committed Rofrano and one of his gang associates had met him under the Manhattan approach to the Brooklyn bridge and had told him he must make good his promise or die.

"Why do you want me to do this thing?" he testified having asked Joseph Brundini, Rofrano's alleged confederate, on one occasion.

"You are not known," the slayer said Brundini told him. "Then, too, you are small and can easily escape in a crowd, and you do not talk English."

Other members of the Home Rule club, Rofrano's political organization, had in the meantime impressed him with the greatness of Rofrano, he said, and of his ability to protect him after the commission of a crime.

The witness said that up to three weeks before he finally killed Gaimari he did not know what he looked like and had no grievance against him whatever.

His explanation of how he had been taken to James street, where Gaimari lived, by Joseph and John Brundini and made acquainted with Gaimari proved of great interest to the jurors.

"Joseph Brundini told me to follow his brother John into a cafe opposite where the 'Horse' lived, but not to mention him by name," the witness testified.

Stalking the Victim.

The witness said he did as directed, and about twenty minutes after he had entered the cafe the "Horse" (Gaimari) came out of his house and walked up the street.

Montimagno said that after following Gaimari for a short distance he circled him twice, taking a good look each time at his face, and that he then returned to where John Brundini was and told him he would know Gaimari when the time came for the witness to kill him.

It had been arranged at the time of this visit that when Montimagno went to look for Gaimari thereafter he should be accompanied by John Brundini and one or other of the other gang men and that Brundini, stationed at some distance from Montimagno, should signal by raising his hat when he saw Gaimari approaching, according to the story of the witness.

With other gang men Montimagno made about fifteen trips to Madison street, but Montimagno found some reason, he said, for not keeping his promise to kill Gaimari.

Rofrano became impatient, the witness said, at his failure to commit the murder, and he finally consented to make another trip to Madison street. This was on March 9, 1915, when Gaimari was murdered.

Montimagno asserted that when he continued to express reluctance a gangster attacked him with a razor, Rofrano standing by while he was trying to slash Montimagno. Montimagno finally promised to kill Gaimari as arranged, he said.

A few moments later the unsuspecting Gaimari was seen approaching Montimagno, and John Brundini signaled the witness, according to his testimony, to shoot at Gaimari passed.

"I waited until Gaimari passed me, and then," said the witness, "I shot him in the back. He fell on his face after the first shot, and I then shot him three times more as he lay on the ground."

"Then I walked away, went into a saloon, as I had been told by Brundini, dropped my coat in the closet and was arrested a little while later."

Never Pays to Wait Too Long.

Some of us let mighty good opportunities slip by, waiting for inspiration, or the psychological moment, all the time forgetting that idleness never inspired anybody to do anything.

There are 12 main islands in the Hawaiian group, all classed as United States territory. The total area is 6,449 square miles. The inhabited islands number eight—Hawaii, Maui, Kahoolawe, Lanai, Molokai, Oahu, Maui and Niihau. In addition there are numerous small islands in the chain which are valuable for their gum deposits and shark fishing grounds, but which are not inhabited.

When Wrist Watch Gets Wet.

In case, as quite often happens, your wrist watch should become wet through an inadvertent splash, it will not require the services of the expert watchsmith if you at once drop it into a bath of kerosene. Take it out instantly and allow it to dry open in a closed closet so that no dust particles may be accumulated.

UNCLE SAM READY TO DISTRIBUTE NEW COINS

Familiar Dimes, Quarters and Half Dollars Will Soon Be Withdrawn From Circulation.

Within a few brief days the issue of the half dollars, quarters and dimes, familiar to every one for so many years, will cease, and in their stead will appear strange coins with which the American public must become acquainted. The treasury department has just announced that the design for the new half dollars has been approved, the dies for the quarters are almost completed and those of the dimes are finished.

The coins will appear simultaneously in all parts of the United States. It is the intention of the government to withdraw the present issues as quickly as possible and establish the substitutes. As the law provides the American eagle and the figure of liberty will both be represented on the new coinage.

The new twenty-five cent piece will bear a front view of a full length figure of liberty. The left arm of the figure is raised, bearing a shield with "In God We Trust," inscribed on it, while on the other side the American eagle is in full flight, wings extended and the inscriptions, "United States of America" and "E Pluribus Unum" above and "Quarter Dollar" below.

Liberty striding toward the dawn of a new day is shown on the new half dollar, and the stars and stripes are flying in the breeze behind her. The reverse of the piece shows an eagle perched on a mountain, with wings extended.

CATCH EMBEZZLER OF $30,000,000

Henri Rochette of Paris Captured After Long Chase.

CAUSED CABINET CRISIS

Affairs of Financier Led to Assassination of Gaston Calmette, Famous Editor, by Mme. Caillaux, Wife of French Minister of Finance—Inventor His Undoing.

Henri Rochette of Paris, founder of the Franco-Spanish bank and the "Coal Fields of Lavianna, Spain," whose smashup in 1908 let the French working classes know they had been swindled out of $30,000,000, is again in the hands of the police.

The arrest ends a chase that has been going on since 1913, when M.
Poincare came in as president. The pursuit when it was being conducted vigorously carried to all parts of the world.

Caused Famous Assassination.

Rochette's affairs led to the 1914 crisis in the French government and the assassination of Gaston Calmette, editor of the Figaro, by Mme. Caillaux, wife of the minister of finance. Calmette phoned charges that Caillaux had exacted himself to save Rochette from paying the penalty for his swindles.

Thus the history of Henri Rochette
—the waiter in a country hotel in France, who inherited $1,000 and with that sum was able to start his high flight in finance which made him the head of sixty banks in Paris with branches in Spain and South America —is inextricably woven with the activities of French politicians and cabinet members.

It was this phase of his activities
as much as his success in emptying the "bas de laine," that figurative stocking that helps the French save money, that brought on the attacks of the Paris press. Rochette's fact was actually due, however, to the fact that he came in contact with a really honest man, Gadot, inventor.

Could Draw Last Sou.

Rochette was thirty-one in 1908, at the time of his smash, of middle height,
good looking, with a silky black beard,
polished manners and a pleasing difference except in financial dealings.
"Then," it was said of him, "his entic-ingly rose and gold arguments would draw the last sou from a beggar's pouch."

He was first known as an errand boy in the railroad station at Lelun, where he got so many tips that the other employees fell to beating him. He became grocer's boy, cafe waiter, promoter and took "Wallington" for his middle name.

He was uneducated except for his studies in bookkeeping, which were most useful when he went to Paris in Berger's banking house, which promptly went into bankruptcy. Rochette persuaded the creditors to let him form a bank out of the ruins. They did,
and his financing concern quickly prospered.

He got control of shady financial resources and sent out agents to gather investment sums even from the serving maids; he floated one company after another and paid dividends for one from the capital subscribed for another company. His manipulations laid him open to all sorts of attacks, but his life was charmed until he antag-onized Gadot.

Inventor His Downfall.

This inventor took to Rochette a patent for a water meter. Rochette was quick to form a company to make the meter, capitalized it at $500,000 and made Gadot a director at a big salary. But when Gadot saw that no meters were to be manufactured he appealed to the law, refused to be bought off and denounced Rochette in public. This started the steam in the jugglers' financial ventures.

After Rochette's arrest every Paris newspaper attacked him. It was argued for him that because he married a poor girl and because $2,000,000 was found in his bank he had a heart.

Though Caillaux had succeeded in getting delays that saved Rochette from undergoing legal punishment, Poincare's determination to reopen the affair caused Rochette to flee to Mexico. When Madero planned his extradition he is said to have escaped "in the garb of an old woman." When last heard from he was supposed to be in the near east.

JUDGE GASPS AT HIS FIRST "WORM DIGGER"

Magistrate Miller, in New York city, was struck speechless for a minute recently when he asked Frank Miles, charged by his wife with disorderly conduct, what his occupation was.
"I am a worm digger," said
Miles, with dignity.
Seeing the judge's incredulity, Mrs. Miles explained, "Yes, he digs worms for bait and sometimes makes $3 a day."
The magistrate ordered Miles to go back to digging worms and see that his wife got good treatment and a proper share of the worm sale proceeds.

Says Glass of Hot Water with Phosphate before Breakfast
Washes out Poisons.

To see the tinge of healthy bloom in your face, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, to wake up without a headache, backache, coated tongue or a nasty breath, in fact to feel your best, day in and day out, just try inside-bathing every morning for one week.

Before breakfast each day, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it as a harmless means of washing from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels
the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will cost very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the blood and internal organs. Those who are subject to constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach rheumatic twinges, also those whose skin is sallow and complexion pallid, are assured that one week of inside-bathing will have them both looking and feeling better in every way.

WAS BARRICADED IN HOUSE

Squatter Near Whitestone, N. Y., Fires
Gun at Officers Trying to Serve Court Order.

Whitestone, N. Y., Oct. 23.—Paul Stier, sheriff of Queens county, was shot and killed and four policemen and a deputy sheriff were wounded by Frank Taft, a squatter, near here, before Taft eventually was killed by Police Sergeant James Fitzgerald, after a siege of an hour and a half, in which policemen, deputy sheriffs and bluejackets from the United States torpedo boat Henly tried to capture Taft.

Sheriff Stier, accompanied by a deputy and a policeman, went to Taft's shanty, in a strip of woods, to arrest him on an order charging contempt of court. When the officers informed Taft of their mission, he picked up a shotgun and fired at them. The sheriff dropped to the floor mortally wounded. Mrs. Taft, who had admitted the sheriff, fled from the shanty, and Taft ran to the roof armed with a rifle and a liberal supply of ammunition.

Police reinforcements soon arrived and the shanty was surrounded. Taft, smoking a pipe, fired several shots, which were returned by the police and deputy sheriffs. After five men had been wounded by the squatter, Sergeant Fitzgerald obtained an automatic rifle from one of the sailors from the torpedo boat, and approaching the hut ordered Taft to surrender. Taft fired at Fitzgerald and the latter, a former United States soldier, returned the fire. Taft fell dead on the roof of the shanty.

MR. WILSON IS CONFIDENT

The President Feels Sure He Will be Re-elected.

Long Branch, N. J., Oct. 24.—President Wilson is serenely confident he will be re-elected, according to men who have discussed the situation with him.

As the campaign nears its final stages, they said, the president grows more and more optimistic.

Mr. Wilson is to make two more speeches here and will make three trips before election day. Tomorrow he leaves for Cincinnati, where he will speak the following day. He speaks in Long Branch Saturday at a celebration of "Woodrow Wilson day." He goes to Buffalo and New York city next week, and will make an address in Long Branch November 4. He probably will receive the election returns at Shadow Lawn.

SIXTEEN MINERS SAVED

Rescue Corps Gets All Entombed
Men Out Alive.

Minersville, Pa., Oct. 24.—Sixteen mine workers were caught behind a wall of fire in a gangway off the Lytle colliery of the Susquehanna Coal company, and rescue corps worked until late at night before the men were released.

All the men were taken out alive. Eight men had inhaled gases, but company physicians say they will recover. The cause of the fire, which was in the timbers of the gangway, is unknown, but officials say the blaze will be extinguished before morning.

Flour Prices Jump

Minneapolis, Oct. 24.—Flour prices increased fifty cents a barrel here, as a result of the bullish condition of the wheat market and reports of a strong foreign demand. Fancy patents which sold Saturday at $9.35 were quoted at $9.55. This grade of flour has increased sixty-five cents a barrel in one week. First clears sold for $7.90, an increase of thirty cents, while second clears sold at $5, an increase of fifty cents a barrel.

Priest Dies While in Prayer

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 24.—Father Beza, vicar general of the diocese of Savannah, who had been a Roman Catholic priest for forty-nine years, was found dead at Sharon, Ga., where he was stationed, according to advices received here. The body was kneeling in an attitude of prayer when found. Father Beza was born in France. The diocese of Savannah includes all of Georgia.

Money Value of Discoveries

If we count the wealth of North America and South America as it seems today, we find that the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus has been worth to the world $3,000,000 a day from the time he sailed from Palos in August, 1492, down to the present time. Likewise, the man who discovered the way of drawing tungsten wire gave $300,000,000 worth of light yearly. —Popular Science Monthly.

The Prize Ring

The reason why the inclosure in which boxers have their fist encounters is called a ring, when it is really square in shape, is because the spectators at the prizefights in the olden days, which took place in the open country, used to stand round in a ring to look on. —London Telegraph.

Well?

66 GUARDSMEN ARRESTED

Mutined Because They Were Cold and
Will be Court-martialed.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—Sixty-six members of B Battery, Illinois Field Artillery, waiting at Fort Sheridan to be mustered out of federal service, were arrested.

They rebelled at inadequate protection against the cold, and visited their homes without leave.

As the sixty-six prisoners were marched under armed sentries to the guardhouse, they cheered and sang, waved their hats and cried, "We won't freeze if you put us in the guardhouse." No attempt was made to silence them.

Trial by court-martial must be faced by three of the mutineers, who declined to accept the alternative of "captain's punishment," which means menial duty in camp.

50 LIVES TOLL OF GALE ON LAKE ERIE

Merida Given Up, Making the Fourth Vessel Lost.

Cleveland, Oct. 24.—The total death toll of Friday night's gale on Lake Erie stood at fifty, when local managers of the steamship Merida, owned by the Valley Camp Shipping company, of Midland, Ont., conceded the loss of the ship with probably all on board.

Seven bodies of the crew of twenty-three were picked up in mid-lake by two ships.

The loss of the Merida makes four lake steamships which went to the bottom in the storm.

The Marshall F. Butters sank with no loss of life, all thirteen of her crew being saved. The D. F. Flier went down with six of her crew, only the captain surviving. The James B. Colgate's crew of twenty-two, with the single exception of the captain perished, while every man on the Merida is believed lost.

Captain Grashaw, of the Colgate, was picked up on a life raft by the Marquette and Bessemer Car Ferry No. 2 after he had been at the mercy of the storm without food or water for thirty-four hours. He lives in Cleveland.

VILLA WINS FIGHT, IS REPORT

Rumored to Have Killed Carranza Leader, and is Nearing Chihuahua.

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 24.—In the lack of detailed news of the battle between the forces of Francisco Villa and Carranza, rumor, which claims Mexican origin, says that General Ozuena, the Constitutional commander, was caught in a trap by Villa, Ozuena himself being killed and his forces annihilated.

Recent semi-official reports from Chihuahua City passed by the Mexican military censorship develop these statements:

General Ozuena, with 2000 cavalry, two sections of machine guns, and a large supply train, left Chihuahua City October 18 against Villa, who that day was reported in San Andres, on the line of the Mexico Northwestern railway.

Storm at Sea Proves Fatal to Man on Lightship.

Newport, R. I., Oct. 24.—A case of a man literally frightened to death was reported.

Gustav Ljunvall went to Brenton's Reef Lightship as an assistant keeper last Wednesday, but before he had time to become accustomed to life surroundings the wind became a gale, accompanied by great seas. In a frenzy he tried to jump overboard. His violence increased and the crew, after a struggle, put him in an improvised straightjacket and kept him there until he died Saturday.

Cambridge, Md., Oct. 24.—Ten frame buildings were destroyed by fire with a loss of $9000. W. R. Hearn & Son, the United States and E. M. Skinner & Brother were among the concerns affected.

No Advantage

"You say your husband is deaf?"
"Yes, but he can read lip language. I can't call him mean things. Just have to think them, the same as any other wife." —Louisville Courier-Journal.

WASHING FURNITURE.

Easy to Restore Tarnished Pieces to Original Freshness.

"Very few people know that furniture ought to be washed," said a salesman in the furniture section of a large department store. "Yet," he continued, "it is the best thing one can do to keep furniture looking as well as it should."

"One should take a basin of tepid rainwater and make a suds with a good pure soap. Then with a soft piece of cheesecloth all the woodwork should be washed. It is astonishing how much dirt will come off. A second piece of cheesecloth should be wrung dry out of hot water. On this should be poured a tablespoonful of first class furniture polish. The heat will spread the polish through the cloth. Next the furniture should be gone over with the second cloth."

"There will be no need of putting on more polish, for that much will be all one needs. Too many persons make the mistake of using too much polish and leaving it thick on the furniture, where it looks daubly and where it gathers more dirt."

There is furniture in homes today that is cast off because of its appearance when it might be brought back to its original freshness by this simple process of washing. Many persons do not know that a fine bit of mahogany is improved by careful washing, and hundreds of pianos have never been more than dusted in years. A square of cheesecloth for the washing and another for the polishing will do the work, and the result will well repay the effort. —Indianapolis News.

His Point of View

"The examples of slum children's ignorance are as incredible as they are innumerable," said a social worker.

"A farmer's wife pointed out to a slum urchin a flock of birds winging their way across the evening sky."

"Oh, look at the pretty birds!" she said.

"Poor things!" said the urchin. "Poor little things! They ain't got no caws, have they?" —Washington Star.

Very Chic For Fall Wear

COSTUME
6880
SKIRT
6433

The acme of smartness is this all-over costume in blue faille trimmed with satin revers, an organdy chemise and satin buttons with centers of red wool embroidery.

Every woman is interested in the styles for coming months and just so, for they were never so attractive as shown in advance models. Faille remains popular, despite the coming and going of other materials. It is always dressy and is capable of such variety that one never tires of it. The Pictorial Review Costume No. 6880. Sizes, 34 to 42 inches bust. Price, 15 cents.

Kitchen Kinks

Corn is richest in oils of all the grains, but not sufficiently glutinous for dough.

The cabbage contains a great amount of nutriment, but is particularly unwholesome when the least bit decayed.

Rice is richest in starch and poorest in oil of all the grains.

Pears afford the most concentrated form of vegetable nourishment.

Both peas and beans are too concentrated nourishment to be eaten alone.

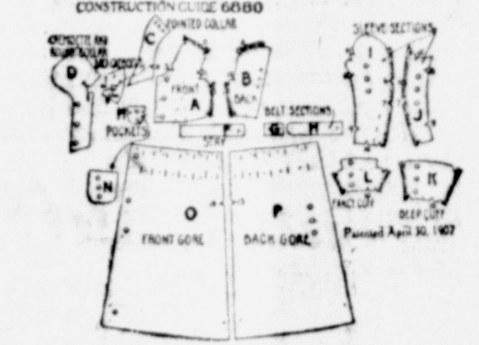

To remove a scorched taste from food remove the vessel instantly from the range and set it in a pan of cold water, letting it remain there for five or ten minutes. At the end of that time the scorched taste will have vanished, leaving it as nice as before.

costume shown here exploits the new all-over effect and is made of blue faille trimmed with black satin. The buttons have centers of red wool embroidery. The bodice is dart-fitted, with open neck finished by a collar of white organdy. Laid in side plaits at the top, the attached four-piece skirt hangs very full without flaring beyond the conventional line.

In medium size the costume requires 5 1/2 yards 36-inch material, with 3/4 yard satin for the revers. If the organdy is 27 inches wide 3/4 yard will be needed for the chemise and collar.

Some of the sections of the pattern are cut from an open width of material, while for others it is necessary to fold the faille in half. Take two widths of the material, laid on the cutting table with right sides facing, and on these place into position first the front gore. This is laid on a lengthwise thread of material and to the right of it is placed the cuff. Above the cuff is the back gore of the skirt and the space left below this provides for the upper sleeve section and pocket. Above the front gore are the belt section and the pocket for the waist. When cutting the chemise and collar, place the pattern on the organdy just as shown in the cutting guide, on a lengthwise thread.

Now, on the folded material place the back of the waist, directly on the lengthwise fold, to avoid a seam. To the right of this lay the back of the chemise. Above the back place the under section of the sleeve and to the right of the sleeve the front of the waist, the two latter on a lengthwise thread of material.

This design makes up most effectively in serge and would be serviceable in that material. There need be no change in the decorative scheme.

Grandmother Goose.
The king was in his motor car—all day he had been spinning, the queen was in the parlor, playing "bridge" and winning; the laundress in the garden was hanging out her clothes, when "whizz-z-z" came an aeroplane and struck her on the nose. —Indianapolis Star.

How He Got Even With Her

By BARBARA PHIPPS

A young Swedish nobleman came on arriving at age to a title without a fortune. He was bemoaning his fate to a friend and announcing his intention to drop his title and go where he would be known merely as Paul Jacobson when his friend said to him:

"Why not make a matrimonial trade, Paul? Marry some woman who has inherited a fortune made in trade. There are many such who would be glad to exchange a part of a fortune for a title."

"I don't wish to marry, and if I married a commoner it would avail nothing. My wife would not be received at court, and that would ostracize me socially."

"But you need be her husband only by law. You need not live with her; you need not see her."

Converted to the idea, Paul advertised for a wife who would exchange a part of her fortune for his title, specifying that it was to be a purely commercial transaction. The only drawback was that neither party could marry another; they must remain single.

He received several replies, one of which he accepted. Bertha Stahl, whose father had made an enormous fortune in trade, agreed to exchange what would be $200,000 in American money for the privilege of being Countess Wendalen. She expressed herself content with the title and willing to dispense with the husband. They were married by proxy, the wife's solicitor paying the money at the time of the ceremony.

The count had not been married long before he heard that the Countess Wendalen, a very beautiful woman living in the northern part of Sweden, or Norland, had received the thanks of the king for charities she had bestowed on the poor and had been invited to one of the balls given at the palace at Stockholm. The count pricked up his ears. He attended the ball, but kept out of his wife's way, seeing her, yet taking care that she did not see him. Being very much struck with her, he wrote her a letter proposing that they make their marriage a real conjugal union. The reply he received was that she had married him for his title and had no use for him personally whatever.

"I'll make her pay for that," said Paul. Not long after the countess had returned to her home a valet came one evening to her residence and said that his master, who had been hunting in the vicinity, had been injured by a fall from his horse. Would the countess give him shelter till the next day? The countess gave orders that he was to be brought to the house and treated with every consideration. She received him herself and sent for her physician to attend him.

The invalid proved to be a handsome young man, and an invalid is sure to elicit sympathy. The countess at once became much interested in him, and since he did not seem well enough to depart on the following morning she insisted that he should not attempt to do so. The countess being a woman who could not possibly marry and the invalid being an attractive man, the most natural thing in the world was that she should fall in love with him.

She read to the poor fellow and talked with him and made nice things with her own hands for him to eat. In return he listened to whatever she said with rapt attention, having the good sense to know that a listener is more interesting than a talker.

Several weeks passed before the invalid was able to be moved, and then he told the countess that he might better have been killed by his fall, for he should die of grief for love of her. He was but a poor young man without fortune, and, of course, a union with her was impossible. She told him that his poverty would not keep them apart, but she confessed that she was already married. At this he bemoaned his fate and departed.

One day Count Wendalen received a proposition from his wife through her solicitor to pay him an additional $50,000 provided he would consent to a divorce. He declined the offer. An additional $50,000 was offered, but the count was not tempted. The negotiations were broken off for a brief interval when another $50,000 was offered. When the amount of the offer reached $500,000 the count consented, but stipulated that the money should be paid him personally by the countess.

To this his wife consented and on an appointed day the count set out for Norland. He was not received at the porte-cochere by the countess, as the injured huntsman had been welcomed, but was shown into a reception room to await her coming. When she entered the room, whom should she see but the man who had won her heart as an invalid.

"Excuse me," she said, drawing a deep breath. "I expected not you, but my husband."

"He is here."

"What do you mean?"

"I am Count Wendalen. I have come to exchange a divorce for gold."

The lady was not in a condition to make reply.

"I wrote you suggesting that we live together as man and wife and you replied that, having my title, you had no use for me personally. You have contracted to pay me for my consent to a divorce that you may marry."

The countess showed signs of collapse, and her husband took her in his arms.

"THE TRAFFIC COP".....MUTUAL MASTER PICTURE

The financier's niece and ward was riding in the park one day when her horse run away. Casey, the cop, rescued her. Then they found that they knew each other when they were children. The girl visited her grandmother in the country and the cop was the little boy next door. They drifted apart, but the incident in the park brought them together again and Casey became a frequent visitor at the banker's home. The banker became involved in speculations and utilized the bank's funds. An unexpected visit of the bank examiner precipitated matters. The banker aided by his cashier, put the blame on the policeman's brother. The traffic policemen of New York city figure to a considerable extent in this film.
